

Description of Billy Bowlegs the Seminole Chief.—Billy is thus described by an eye witness, who was present at an interview recently between this distinguished personage and Gen. Twiggs, on the coast of Florida.

The Chief is a fine looking warrior, about forty years old, with an open, intelligent expression of countenance, totally devoid of that wild look which so frequently characterizes the inhabitant of the forest. His figure is about the ordinary height, and well proportioned, with a pleasing deportment, and evincing much self-possession in his manners. His head was enveloped in a red shawl surmounted with white feathers, encircled with a silver band, with crescents of the same metal suspended from his neck, to which was appended a large silver medal, with a likeness of President Van Buren on its face; his throat was richly covered with strands of large blue beads, he also wore bracelets of silver over the sleeves of a decorated hunting shirt. A broad showy head belt passing over his breast, suspending a beautiful beaded rifle-pouch under his left arm, and red leggings with brass buttons, which were richly embroidered with beads where they covered the upper part of the moccasins completed his equipments.

Energy.—Energy is omnipotent. The clouds that surround the houseless boy of to-day are dispersed; and he is invited to a palace. It is the work of energy. The child who is a beggar this moment, in a few years to come, may stand forth the admiration of angels! Who has not seen the life-giving power of energy? It makes the wilderness to bloom to like a rose! whitens the ocean; navigates our rivers; levels mountains; paves with iron a highway from State to State; and sends through, with the speed of lightning, from one extremity of the land to the other. Without energy, what is man? A fool, a clod.

The following remarks in relation to the etiquette of a dinner party, appeared in a fashionable London journal:

'Married ladies precede the single.—The lady of the house is the last to enter the dining-room. People who are engaged walk in together. Ladies do not dine with gloves on, and are not asked to take wine by gentlemen. There must be a salt-cellar for every two persons.'

Michigan Election.—Telegraphic despatches from the North give the intelligence of a Democratic victory in Michigan.

The word 'lady' is of Saxon origin; and is compounded of leaf and dian, lady being the result of the two. Leaf-dian, or, as it is corrupted 'lady,' literally means a feeder of the poor. How many of those who assume the title in these days are worthy of it?

A FLATTERING PORTRAIT PAINTER.—The Mirror, speaking of Frederika Bremer, the authoress, now on a visit to this country, says she is personally rather stout, rather rosy and rather gray. She is about fifty-six years of age, and all her beauty seems to have struck in.

A system of artillery for the land service of the United States has just been perfected by Brevet Major Alfred Mordecai, under the direction of the ordnance department. The report is published in two volumes, one containing 200 engravings.

AUTUMN.
The chilling winds come sweeping
O'er mountain hill and dell;
But where they get their brooms from,
Hang me if I can tell.

Pacific Railroad Survey.—A corps of topographical engineers are now under orders in Texas to examine the country between Fulton on Red river and El Paso on the Rio Grande, with a view of ascertaining a route for the Pacific railroad. The report of the engineers will be laid before Congress at an early period.

Appointed by the President.—Nix, White, of North Carolina, to be a Purser in the Navy, vice Wm. B. Hartwell, deceased.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS, AN OFFER.

There may be many persons in the country desirous of obtaining an abstract of the proceedings of the Legislature, divested of the valueless details of its regular journalism. We therefore propose to furnish the Daily South Carolinian, for the Session, for Fifty Cents, or the Tri-Weekly South Carolinian for Twenty-Five Cents, containing an abstract of the Proceedings of both Houses, Messages, &c. Those desirous of availing themselves of this offer, will have their names sent to us as early as possible. They will thus have not only the benefit of a report of the proceedings, but also of the current news of the day for the time being. This will embrace the President's Message and the early proceedings of Congress.—South Carolinian.

THE OCONEE STATION FOR SALE.

This place, situated in Pickens District, on the Oconee Creek, 12 miles North of Pickens C. H., and immediately on the road leading from the latter place to Clayton, Ga., contains 1000 Acres of fertile Land, which will be disposed of on terms the most advantageous to the purchaser.

As a grain and stock farm, the Oconee possesses many peculiar advantages; its fields producing abundant crops of Corn, Wheat, Rye, Oats, and Potatoes, while the hills for miles around are covered during 9 months of the year with coats of the richest grasses.

On the premises there are all the necessary buildings for a well regulated Farm, including a two-story Brick Dwelling.

The narrative of this Station forming as it does, an important chapter in the early history of our State, is well known to every Carolinian, and it is equally celebrated for the purity of its air, where, the exuberance of its soil, and for the beauty and romantic wildness of its Scenery.

Persons wishing further particulars will please communicate with

J. A. DOYLE.
Pickens C. H., S. C.
The South Carolinian, Pendleton Messenger, and Laurensville Herald will please give the above three insertions and forward their accounts to this office.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

FARMER AND PLANTER.

GEO. SEABORN, }
J. J. GILMAN, } Editors.

It will be our aim to conduct this publication in a manner acceptable both to the farmer and planter, and to render it valuable to the tillers of the soil throughout the South. The paper owes its origin to the suggestion of the Pendleton Farmer's Society, the oldest institution of its kind in the State, embracing gentlemen well known as successful planters, and distinguished for inventions and improvements they have made in implements of husbandry. We shall have an important aid from this source, and promise to make our paper a vehicle to disseminate the results of the experience of members of this Association.

We have secured, as contributors, from every quarter of this and the neighboring States, planters of skill in the "art and mystery" of farming; and congratulate ourselves that thus we may become an exchange medium of the different modes of husbandry practiced in different parts of the country, and shall be enabled to place before the agricultural community the opinions and theories of the most scientific men of the South.

We shall acquaint our readers with the results of an extensive train of experiments conducted under our own superintendence, and shall give agricultural chemistry a prominent place in our columns, so as to enable those who wish it to determine qualities of soil, and their fitness for any particular crop.

We shall endeavor to bring within the scope of our attention every subject of interest to the husbandman—things small as well as great—and to make our paper profitable alike to the large planter and the small farmer.

We shall make our pages interesting to the mechanic, from the attention given to the construction of farming utensils.

We aspire to place the Farmer and Planter among the most desirable agricultural publications of the day; and to this end we pledge all our energies.

If the South would keep pace with the advancement in agricultural science and enjoy her full share of prosperity, information upon the subject of husbandry must be more widely diffused.—Strange as it would seem, while there are scores of political papers in this State, there is not a single journal devoted to that industrial pursuit by which man and beast must live, if live at all.

From these considerations, and at the earnest solicitation of the Pendleton Farmer's Society, under whose auspices we may be regarded, we are induced to take upon ourselves the conduct of the Farmer and Planter; and, from the encouragement already received, we are sanguine of rendering it a popular paper.

We ask for an active co-operation of all who are favorable to the enterprise in procuring subscribers, and forwarding to us their names as early as possible.

The Farmer and Planter, consisting of sixteen royal quarto pages, will be published monthly, at Pendleton, S. C., at $1 per annum; six copies for $5; twenty-five copies $20; one hundred copies $75—payable on the receipt of the first number.

The volume will commence with the year 1850.

Communications should be addressed to
